THE JAPANESE DRIVE ALL OUT

BRITISH AND GERMAN STEAMERS SUCCUMB TO COMPETITION IN THE ORIENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—That Japan is not only planning to outdistance the United States in the struggle for the commerce of the Pacific, but has already driven the steamship lines of every other nation out of the Chinese trade was the important statement made yesterday by Henry L. Paddock, United States Consul at Amoy, China, who arrived in this city on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamship Korea. Mr. Paddock was accompanied by his wife, and after a few days' stay in San Francisco will proceed to Washington.

"The Japanese have captured the entire ocean carrying trade of China from Hongkong to Shanghai," said Paddock yesterday. "The British lines, which some years ago monopolized this business, are doing nothing. The same is true of the German lines. All have succumbed to the competition of the Japanese, aided by their large subsidization, and the low pay of their crews."

The recent complaint of Vice-President Scherwin, of the Pacific Mail S. S. Company, that American lines were unable to meet the rates made by the Japanese companies, because of the latter's subsidies and the lower cost of operation, was told to Consul Paddock.

"I can understand that the American lines are handicapped," he said. "There is no doubt that the Japanese companies are able to quote lower rates than American lines. As to whether this country ought to grant subsidies, of course, I cannot say. I have not made a study of that aspect of the question. But that the Japanese are capturing the carrying trade of the Pacific there is no doubt. The new ships, which they are putting in commission, are of the most recent design, and unless some stimulus is given to Americans to compete with them, we may expect to see the Stars and Stripes become as unfamiliar on the Pacific as on the Atlantic."

"That this should happen is the more to be regretted because of the present great internal development of China, which opens up a wide field for commerce. There is no doubt that China is now experiencing a wonderful regeneration. Whether this will be a permanent advancement or is simply a passing phase, the result of it is that China now affords a market which this country cannot neglect."

The changing conditions in China, he said, were shown in every aspect of the national life. In the administration of internal affairs it was noticeable that the new boards were composed of men of a different type from the Chinese officials of a few years ago. A liberal spirit was driving out the old conservative idea, and the old "squeeze" system, synonymous with "graft" in this country, was falling into disrepute.

The work of Yuan Shih-Kai, viceroy of Chihli, the man of power in China in good shape. The monetary system measure to be credited for the new conditions. His work as minister of army reorganization, and as head of the railways of the empire, had done more than any other single agency to modernize China.

"The finances of China," he said, "are in excellent condition. It is true that China is poor; poor, that is, as regards its per capita wealth. But the money there is kept in circulation all the time and the national treasury is in good shape. The monetary system of the country, however, is wretched, and is the one great drawback to the country's commercial development. Several movements are on foot to remedy this evil, and ultimately it will be done."

Consul Paddock may not return to Amoy after his present leave of absence, but may be sent by the State Department to some other post.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Christian Science lecture at the Hawaiian Opera House by the Rev. J. C. Flinn will be an innovation to the people here, few of whom have heard the tenets of Christian Science expounded by one of the experiences of this gentleman. He does not try to win over to his belief those who are attendants at the other churches nor does he talk against medicines and doctors, he simply tells his hearers in a plain, straightforward manner what Christian Science is and leaves it to them to judge whether or not it is correct. He is said to be a fine speaker and one who holds the attention of his audiences from beginning to end. The seats are free tonight and on Sunday afternoon, and the public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no collection taken.

PIPE DREAMS ON HAWAII AND JAPAN

SAN FRANCISCO PAPER GRAVELLY DISCUSSES A LOT OF UNHAPPENED EVENTS.

Again we are told that Japan is preparing for a campaign of peace and industrial development rather than one of war and international strife. To this assertion veneration is given by the circumstance that preparations are now being made for a great national exposition to be held at Tokio in 1912. Through her Embassy Japan has presented to the State Department at Washington, an invitation to this country to participate in the exposition. We are invited to participate as a nation and all the people of the United States are requested to send exhibits to the big fair. The exposition is to commemorate no historical event, but its purpose is to show to all the world Japanese development and progress, and incidentally to enable the Japs to gain a broader knowledge of the industries of other countries. In further evidence of Japan's amiable attitude towards this country Ambassador Aoki has expressed regret that a report had come to the United States from Hawaii that the Mikado had issued a birthday message to his subjects urging them, in the event of emergency, to "arise" and offer themselves courageously to their beloved country, "and thus guard and maintain the prosperity of the imperial throne."

It is now explained that this language, which caused a great stir in Hawaii, was taken from an imperial rescript on education issued by the Emperor of Japan on the occasion of his birthday seventeen years ago, and that it has been read ever since on his birthday anniversary wherever there are Japanese schools. It remains to be seen how this explanation is received in Honolulu where they know something of the customs of the Japanese. According to the despatches from Honolulu the Mikado's birthday message was read, not in the schools, but on a thousand platforms in the islands. Moreover it was the signal for the greatest display of fireworks in the history of Hawaii. Never before had the Japanese in Hawaii shown such enthusiasm and excitement. And yet, according to Ambassador Aoki, this same birthday message is read every year. If so then perhaps the people in Hawaii have reason to be alarmed, since the inference is warranted that this year a new and thrilling significance was read into the Emperor's greeting. Never before did the Japanese show such enthusiasm and excitement. The display of fireworks was the greatest ever. Evidently the Emperor's message, though in the old familiar words, was pregnant with new inspiration. And it occurs to us that it is somewhat singular that the familiar message had never before been translated into English in the islands for the Japanese constitute a very large proportion of the population of Hawaii—almost one-third—and therefore news pertaining to them must be of considerable public interest. A birthday message from the Mikado, was a quite interesting piece of news, and it was not inaccessible to the press. However these reflections, inspired as they are by speculation, are not likely to bring us to an accurate estimate of Japan's sentiments toward this country. We shall probably get nearer the heart of the matter this winter when demand is made in Congress for Japanese exclusion legislation. The Japanese Government has professed all along to be as anxious as we are to have the subjects of the Mikado remain in the Orient. We shall soon see whether this sentiment is genuine or purely a diplomatic affectation. Evidently the President and his Cabinet are apprehensive of trouble in this connection, for they have refused to discuss Japanese immigration and they have suppressed all bulletins showing the volume of Japanese immigration to Pacific Coast States.—S. F. Town-Talk.

INSPECTORS GIVE DECISIONS.
SAN FRANCISCO, December 19.—Inspectors Bulger and Bolles have suspended for thirty days the licenses of Chief Engineer Jeremiah Regan, First Assistant Engineer Harry Hayward, Second Engineer Herbert E. Wallis and Third Engineer William McGilway, as a result of the discord in the engineers' department of the steamer Santa Maria on the voyage from this city of Honolulu and return, October 11th to November 27th. This discord resulted in inattention of the engineers and consequent defects in their department of the vessel.
